

DEVIL'S EYE

Terms of working together

The terms on which I share what I know.

I teach from my own practice: what worked, what didn't, and why. I share it openly and in detail.

To share it comfortably, I want us clear from the start. Here it is, briefly: a simple agreement between the two of us, in effect from our first session.

01 Confidentiality

Everything said in a session stays between us. Your work, your goals, your plans and your doubts — and equally my breakdowns, my phrasing, my recommendations and the way I explain things.

Please keep it inside our conversation: no retelling, quoting, publishing or forwarding to third parties.

02 Recording

Recording is possible by prior agreement — just ask beforehand. Permission is given to you personally, so you can return to the material and rewatch it as many times as you need.

Please keep it to yourself: no publishing, sharing, selling, transcribing for distribution, using it as the basis for your own materials, or uploading it to services that train on user data.

03 Materials and method

What you receive in a session is original work: specific phrasing, prompt structure, the order of steps, breakdowns, templates and the way it's all delivered. It's what you came for, and you are free to put it to use.

Applying it — yes, freely.

Repackaging it as teaching — no.

04 What that means in practice

YOU MAY

- + Apply everything you learn in your own work, personal and commercial
- + Take on client jobs and earn from the skill
- + Build your own original project on top of it
- + Show your results and say that you studied with me
- + Rewatch your recording as often as you like

PLEASE DON'T

- Build your own course, intensive, guide, handbook or paid consultation out of session material
- Retell session content to third parties — in speech, writing, streams or posts
- Pass recordings, notes, prompts or breakdowns to anyone else
- Present my method and my phrasing as your own original work
- Upload materials to services that train on user data

05 If the agreement is broken

Then we finish there — the same day, with no refund for the unused portion. After that I don't work with that person again: no sessions, no mentorship, no commissions.

I'm saying this upfront and calmly, so neither of us ends up with an unpleasant surprise.

ACCEPTANCE

Before our first session, message me on Telegram to say you've read these terms and agree to them. One message is enough.

If anything here seems unclear or unfair, ask before we start. I'll answer straight, and I won't take it badly.

I share knowledge generously. Authorship I keep.
